Homework Sep 10 - The new web page is : www.chilboltonbridgeclub.com

The declarer is in 4Sp and you are on lead. You can see your hand { it helps ..} and dummy's and are told what happens at trick 1. To decide what to lead at trick two you will no doubt take into account partner's signals , your own cards and any ideas that you might have as to how the declarer will intend to play the hand.

1)

{dummy}
K76
32
J876
A654

{You}
A43
QJ5
432
Q1072

You led the QHrts
Partner played the 9Hrts
Declarer played the 2 Hrts

2)

{dummy}
AQ98
J8
AQJ
K652

{You}
632
KQ73
65
QJ43

You led the K Hrts
Partner played the 9Hrts
Declarer played the 4 Hrts

It is a similar story on the next two hands except dummy wins the opening lead. You are told what happened at tricks (1) and (2) and you will have to decide what to lead to trick (3). Contract 4Sp.

3)

{dummy}
762
2
AK62
Q7654

{You}
K54
A765
QJ98
32

Trick (1) dummy plays the Ace Di's
Trick (2) dummy leads the 2 Sp which you win with the KSp.

4)

{dummy}
KJ876
3
AKQ9
AQ7

{You}
A5
A976
J107
8654

Trick (1) dummy plays the Ace Di's
Trick (2) dummy leads the 8 Sp which you win with the Ace Sp.

In the next question you are the declarer in 4Sp. You receive the lead of the Q Hrts which you win with the Ace Hrts .You have a plan { you are a good player after all ..}.
Is there anything the defence might do to scupper your main chance ?

5)

{declarer}
KQJ1098
A76
KQJ
3

{dummy}
76
43
1098
AQ6542